

If you're knocking these off, knock it off!

These two proprietary jewelry designs of Janel Russell Designs, Inc. are protected by copyright and are aggressively defended against those who—knowingly or unknowingly—manufacture and market “knock-offs.” You will be sued.

Our attorneys pursue copyright and trademark infringements to the fullest extent of the law, which can result in fines, forfeiture of sales, legal expenses and destruction of tooling, molds and inventory. The manufacturers of the products below are among those who have ceased production and sale:

Insist on genuine licensed products. Look for the name “Janel Russell” on the product or packaging. Reject unauthorized “knock-offs”. Your customers want the genuine article and will reward you for your integrity.

There is only one genuine Mother and Child® brand.

Mother and Child® should not be used generically to refer to designs incorporating a mother and a child. Only authentic Mother and Child jewelry manufactured by Kirchner Corporation bears the Mother and Child trademark. Trademark violations include but are not limited to the following:

- Mother & Child
- Mother & Baby
- Mother and Baby
- Child and Mother
- Child & Mother
- Mother and Infant
- Mother & Infant
- Mother/Child
